On December 20, 2005, Palatin and King Pharmaceuticals, Inc. amended the Collaborative Development and Marketing Agreement between them dated August 12, 2004, to terminate the sublicense to King of patents under a license agreement between Palatin and Competitive Technologies, Inc. Palatin and King concluded that the sublicense was not necessary or useful for the development, manufacture, sale or other commercialization of PT-141, a nasally administered peptide in clinical development for the treatment of both male and female sexual dysfunction.
